

Alexi Murdoch

27 Dec. 1973 – Born, London

1973-1990 approx. – grows up in Greece, Scotland

Late '90s-2001 – Takes up residence, begins playing out in Los Angeles.

Summer 2002 – Approached by Nic Harcourt of KCRW's Morning Becomes Eclectic following a show. Gives him four self-recorded tracks, which he in turn plays on his show...

Nov. 2002 - ... causing the Four Songs EP to be born of necessity.

2003 – First national tour

Sept. 2003 – Alexi performs on Morning Becomes Eclectic.

Sometime 2003-2004 – Alexi is approached by Zach Braff re: putting his music in Garden State. "Orange Sky" appears in the film.

Jan. 2004 - Alexi performs at the Sundance Film Festival.

March 2004 – "Orange Sky" appears on The O.C.: Mix 1

Dec. 2004 – "Silent Night" single released

2005 – writing, touring, recording, SXSW, recording, touring, writing

Nov. 2005 – "Orange Sky" is the featured song in the trailer for the Academy Award Nominee for Best Foreign Film, Paradise Now.

June 6, 2006 - Alexi releases Time Without Consequence on his own Zero Summer label